Vigilance Can Halt GOP Vote Steal Plan

By MAX GORDON

If President Roosevek's plea for 50,000,000 voters tomorrow is answered, the likelihood is he will win by a landslide in the Electoral College.

All major poll predictions yesterday agreed that the President would get a majority of the popular vote, though the Gallup and Crossley polls predict it will be close.

The Gallup Poll gives the President 51 percent of the civilian vote. The Crossley Poll gives him 52 percent, including the estimate of the soldier vote. And the final Fortune Poll gives FDR 53.6 percent for the civilian vote only.

In a number of key states, the result may hinge upon the soldier vote, which is expected to hit the 3,000,000 mark. Many believe that two-thirds of the soldier ballots will be marked for the President.

If the civilian vote should equal the 47,000,000 mark, it will carry the key midwest and eastern states with large industrial centers into the Roosevelt column, according to most observers. These states, which have been considered doubtful, include Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, Minnesota, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts and Connecticut.

11 DEWEY STATES

Dewey, in that case, would be left with 11 states, generally considered "safe" for him, with a total of 66 electoral votes and another four, with 43 electoral votes, in the "doubtful" column. States considered "safe" for Dewey include Colorado, Indiana, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Dakota, Vermont and Wyoming. Even some of these, notably Indiana and Wyoming, may go for FDR in a landslide.

Borderline states are Missouri, Wisconsin, Oregon and Oklahoma.

Should a huge turnout carry the industrial areas for the President, he would get at least 422 electoral college votes of the total of 531.

Recognizing that the size of the vote in urban areas is decisive, GOP strategists are desperately trying to cut it down. In New York yesterday, Mayor LaGuardia warned in his radio broadcast against the campaign to intimidate first voters on the part of "some politicians." Gov. Dewey's state attorney general, Nathaniel Goldstein, has been conducting a campaign of terror against foreign-born first voters who took literacy tests to qualify. There have also been indications that the GOP will try to stall on Election Day through wholesale challenging.

Across the country, in San Francisco and Los Angeles, city and Democratic officials are preparing to cope with a similar scheme of wholesale sabotage by Republican election inspectors tomorrow. In Illinois and various other states other efforts are being undertaken to win this (Co- ued on Page 16) election by desperate methods.

No One Can Stop First Voters--LaGuardia

In his regular Sunday afternoon broadcast yesterday, Mayor LaGuardia emphasized that any first voter who has received his certificate of literacy has a right to vote Nov. 7-and no one has any right to take that right away from him. He said:

"Anyone intimidating a voter with the intention of preventing him from voting, or unlawfully preventing him from voting is guilty in this state. A certificate of literacy must be received by the election inspectors as conclusive proof except as to its genuineness and the identity of the owner at the time of registration.

The certificate is required at the time of registration, not at the time of voting. Bring your certificate with you in case of a challenge. Unless the certificate is a forgery, or unlawfully obtained or is not citizen has a right to vote on Election Day and no one has the right to stop him, much less the right to scare or intimidate him. No citizen, in this city, knowing how to read or write need have any fear from any source, anywhere, in any way, at any

"Let me make this clear, the right to vote is a constitutional right. The citizen qualifies to vote when he registers. Having registered, on Election Day he has a right to vote and no matter what anybody in the world says he has a right to vote. After he has voted a citizen can file a complaint, or before he votes a citizen can challenge that vote. When a vote is challenged a questionnaire is filled out and the voter signs it and takes an oath ALP Lawyers to Aid First Voters

Lawyers will be on hand in every ALP club throughout the city tomorrow for immediate call from any first voter who needs aid, Hyman N. Glickstein, chairman of the ALP Law Committee said today.

Mr. Glickstein revealed that ALP law committees from Manhattan, The Bronx, Queens and Richmond met over the wekend to map assignments to combat the GOP's terror drive against foreign born and then he votes. Do I make myself clear? Everyone who registers has a right to vote and no one can stop him. If he has fraudulently registered, or if he is not citizens and other first voters from casting their ballots November 7.7

"We feel it is urgent that every first voter goes to the polls Tuesday," Glickstein said. "Under no circumstances should they allow anyone to intimidate them from staying away from the polls for any reason. We will have sufficient legal forces on hand in every district to take care of anything the GOP tries to pull at the polls."

20 UMW Leaders Say Miners Back FDR

OAKMONT, Pa., Nov. 5 .- Twenty United Mine Workers local presidents, secretaries and committee members, organized in a Democratic Miners' Committee wired President Roosevelt pledging "the unanimous-support of 10,000 miners" in Allegheny Valley just outside Pittsburgh.

The telegram told the President that miners and their families will vote "the whole Democratic ticket," William Goddard is committee chairman and W. R. Davis of Renton, Pa., is secretary.

"No matter what anybody else says, the miners are going to vote for President Roosevelt," Goddard who is also president of UMW of local 4,426 declared,

"I don't know of a single mine workers local in this valley that isn't for Roosevelt. No one has done so much for us miners as President Roosevelt," Goddard continued. "We remember the 10hour day at 15 cents an hour, $1.50 for ten back breaking hours under Republican national administrations. We remember the days of company goons and hired deputies who terrorized miners and who tried to smash every one of our efforts to improve our standard of living by brutality and murder.

Allies to Equip New Italian Army--Bonomi

A new Italian army, comprising at least six divisions, will soon go into action beside the Allied Fifth and Eighth Armies Premier Ivanoe Bonomi revealed, according to yesterday's United Press.

The new force will be equipped with modern weapons by the United States and Britain, an official announcement said.

"This is a very important step toward revising the Armistice conditions," Giuseppe Berti, editor of the progressive Italian-American weekly, l'Unita del Popolo, told the Daily Worker.

"It means that Italy will become in fact not only a co-belligerent but an ally."

Recalling that the armistice limited Italian fighting forces to 14,100 men-or less than a full division-Berti said:

"Lend-lease will how be needed to support an important army in liberated Italy as well as the more than 200,000 partisans fighting in the occupied north.

Progressive forces in Italy have placed the revision of armistice terms to permit Italians to fight for their own freedom as their major demand. Now agreement has been reached on this essential basis for a free Italy.

"Italians are especially grateful to President Roosevelt whose forward-looking policy has made this possible."

President Roosevelt was made an honorary citizen of Rome Saturday by the city's municipal government. The President, the special citation said, has shown "constant friendliness toward Italy. Even during the fascist war he did not confuse our country with the tyrannical regime which oppressed it."

U.S. 3rd Army Takes Berg in 3-Mi. Push

PARIS, Nov. 5 (UP).—In a surprise thrust up the long-dormant upper Moselle Valley. U.S. Third Army troops gained three miles today and captured Berg, only three miles from Germany's vital Saar Province, meeting little resistance from an enemy whose rear supply lines had been sheared to ribbons in two days of blistering bomber assaults.

With the new thrust, pressure mounted against hard-pressed German defenders on virtually every sector of the winding 500-mile western front from Walcheren Island, where British troops entered the last enemy stronghold of Middelburg, to the wintry Vosges in southeast France.

In the Vosges French First Army troops opened a new attack toward Gerardmer in the Schlucht pass, gaining four miles on a 11-mile front to supplement an American thrust toward St. Die just to the north,

New York Vote ALP--Row C

We urge a straight ticket vote for the American Labor Party on Row C. That is why we feel it is unnecessary to reprint a list of recommended congressional legislative and Judicial candidates.

There is a single exception. In Manhattan's 14 congressional district, we urge support for Max Waterman, Democrat, against Rep. Joseph Clark Baldwin, Republican incumbent, whose record on domestic policy has been obstructionist.

There are a few other good Democratic legislators who did not receive ALP endorsement, but in every case their election is certain without ALP votes, THE NECES. SITY FOR A BIG ALP VOTE IS TOO GREAT TO CONFUSE THE PICTURE WITH ANY OTHER SPLIT TICKETS.

SO PULL DOWN ALL LEVERS ON ROW C.

R RIGHTS AS A VOTER

You vote in the same place in which you registered. Keep these things in mind:

1. Challenges: The Republicans are planning wholesale challenges in order to frighten voters and to cause delays in the hope of discouraging many from voting. Everyone must fight for his vote.

If you are challenged for any reason, all you need do is to demand a challenge affidavit form and sign it. This is a prepared form that says simply that the information you gave when you registered is correct.

Once you sign this form, no one has the right to interfere with your voting, whether you are a first voter or not.

Do not hold up the line. Demand the affidavit and step out to fill it out. If anyone refuses to let you vote after that, there will be pro-FDR watchers on hand, including the American Labor Party watcher, who will fight for you. If one isn't on hand to help you, call the ALP office in your county (telephone numbers below) and they will send a lawyer.

2. You are entitled to three minutes in the election booth. Be careful to pull down the levers on Row C, and leave them down 3. If you pull down a wrong lever by mistake, you can push it up again and pull down the correct one, as long as you haven't yet pulled back the curtain of the booth,

4. If you are told when you report to vote that you have registered in the wrong district, call the ALP office at once. A lawyer will help you get the right to vote in the right district.

If you know now that you were registered in the wrong district, you can get it corrected before Election Day by getting in touch with the ALP office in your county.

The telephone numbers of the ALP county offices are; Manhattan, MU. 3-3998; Brooklyn, TR. 5-0070; Bronx, JE. 8-6632; Queens, JA. 6-4580.

Time Off for Voting

All New York State workers are entitled by law to two hours off for voting-with pay, provided they inform the boss at least a day in advance. This goes whether you are a piece worker, an hourly worker, a salaried worker, or what have you. The fact that the voting day has been extended two hours makes no difference. You are still entitled to take any two hours off in which the polls are open; that is, from 6 a.m.

a testimonial meeting for Louis Weinstock who was leaving for the Soviet Union as a guest of Soviet trade unions. Dewey is flanked on the left by Weinstock, painters' union official and member of the National Committee of the Communist Political Association, and on the right by Councilman Michael J. Quill. The picture was taken Sept. 27, 1937, at Manhattan Center and published in October, 1937, in the official journal of Weinstock's union, the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America. Weinstock is secretary-treasurer of District 9.

Mr. Hillman has already pointed

Dear Mr. Hillman:

I enclose a copy of a picture taken Sept. 27, 1937 which I am sure will be of considerable interest at this time.

This picture was taken at a send-off mass meeting to me at Manhattan Center on that date, given to me on my journey as a delegate to the Soviet Union as a guest of the Soviet trade unions, together with South American, French, British, Scandinavian and Czechoslovakian trade union delegates and shows Thomas E. Dewey, then campaigning for the office of district attorney, sitting between me (left) and Michael J. Quill.

This picture has been in my files for some time and was indeed published in the Painters Union official paper in October, 1937. I had not intended to take this picture from my files at any time during this election campaign. Now, however, I believe it is both appropriate and very necessary to offer you this picture for any use you may have for it.

As you well know, I have frequently opposed you and your followers on many occasions in New York City. As a member of the Executive Board of the National Communist Political Association which I joined in May of this year, I have frequently found myself opposed to you on labor and political issues.

Today, however, the story is different. I am simply fed up with the vicious drivel and anti-Communist filth that is being circulated by this same Mr. Dewey. He reveals himself as a man whose memory has completely failed him. At the time this picture was taken in 1937, Mr. Dewey was anxious and eager for my support and for the support of the Communists. He appeared more than willingly at this meeting, knowing full well that it was a testimonial for a man who was very proud to be connected with the Communists. As a matter of fact, the occasion for this testimonial was my departure for Moscow .where I spent several weeks studying Russian labor and working conditions.

The important thing is not my own stand. I share with you the conviction if we are to have anything approximating a lasting peace and full employment, the election of President Rooseevit is imperative. The important thing today is to expose this campaign of deceit, lies and complete lack of candor which is being waged by the Republican candidate for the presidency of this country.

As a postscript, I want to point out that Mr. Dewey's followers were aware of the existence of this picture and tried on several occasions to have me turn it over to them. It is obvious that they realize fully that this picture can give the nation visual proof of the spiritual insincerity in which Mr. Dewey has approached his campaign. It shows Mr. Dewey, in short, to be nothing but an ordinary garden variety pretender.

Facts on Nation's Prosperity Ridicule 'FDR Depression'

Louis Boehm, vice-chairman of the Business and Professional Men's League for Roosevelt, a national organization of business men having organizations in 35 states, issued a statement in connection with Gov. Dawey's charge that the New Soviet Friendship Deal had prolonged the 1932 depression for seven straight years.

He said that measured by the yardsticks commonly employed to measure national prosperity, namely, national income, wholesale commodity prices, production of goods, employment, business failures, dividends, the charge was completely baseless. Boehm cited the following figures taken mainly from Government reports in support of his statement:

The national income (as compiled by the Department of Commerce) grew steadily from $40,000,-000,000 in 1932 to $71,000,000,000 in 1937, an increase of 78 percent.

The wholesale commodity price index (as compiled by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, 1923 equalling 100) increased from 65 in 1932 to 86 in 1937, an increase of 33 percent. In 1943 it mounted to 103, an increase of 59 percent over 1932 but only slightly above 1926. This indicates that as a result of price control, prices were prevented from skyrocketing, as they did in the First World War.

The Industrial production index (compiled by the Federal Reserve Board, 1935-1939 equals 100) in 1932 stood at 58. By 1937 it had gone up to 113, an increase of 95 percent, and in 1940, a year before we entered the war, it had gone up to 125, an increase of 115 percent.

Keep FDR, Says Bereaved Mother

A CDVO worker told me the following, as we stood on a 14th St. corner, listening to a war veteran

"A middle-aged Jewish mother came to see me today to ask how she could get information about her son, whom the War Department had notified her was 'missing in action.' He was a member of an airplane crew, where she didn't know. She cried softly. Sympathetic people gathered around, offering suggestions-'Go to the Red Cross' or 'Write to the War Department.' Some told her, 'Don't give up hope.' They often turn up as prisoners and are recaptured and freed by our own forces.

"Suddenly she looked down at the FDR button on her coat. Honestly, I was afraid she was going to take it off, right in front of all those people. Instead she said: 'Some people told me I should throw it away and crush it under my foot. But I'm still voting for President Roosevelt. There are other mothers too. I'm not the only one. I want to see our President get the peace my boy fought for!'

"She thanked us and went away, to search for news, leaving us proud and determined to keep FDR for her and all those other mothers so that their sons 'shall not have died in vain'."

Urges Review Of Mutiny Trial

Convinced of the innocence of the 50 Negro sailors charged with mutiny for failure to load ammunition last August 9 at the Mare Island depot in California,, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will request opportunity to file a brief to be heard before Rear Admiral Carlton H. Wright, C. O., Twelfth Naval District. In addition, it will also file a brief and appear personally when the case is referred to the Judge Advocate General's division of the Navy Department for review in Washington.

The fact-finding board deliberated only 45 minutes in finding the men guilty. The particular charge of which they have been convicted or the length of the sentences imposed has not been announced and probably will not be until Rear Admiral Wright and the Reviewing Board in Washington has examined the record for legal sufficiency. The evidence in mitigation, however, reveals that 44 men on trial had perfect conduct ratings of 4.0 and that over half of them were under 21 years of gae.

Union Lookout —

- Dewey's 'Laborites' Bounce
- Willkie and Unions

by Dorothy Loeb

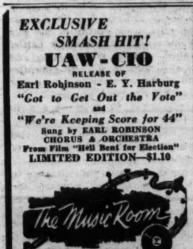

Last minute election round-up-new figure of speech emerging from the election campaign: "As unreliable as a Republican list of labor endorsements." Never before in history has there been such a parade of fakery and never have fakes been so quickly exposed. However, this much is sure: William L. Hutcheson, president of the Brotherhood of Carpenters, endorses Dewey. We've heard that John L. Lewis was for him but so far the Republican nominee hasn't let a peep out of him to show that he knows it. You'd think that with the scarcity of laborites in the GOP camp, he'd at least lay claim to one international president instead of claiming rubber endorsements that bounce as fast as they're announced.

The sentiment of Italian Americans in the unions is something to talk about. The Joint Board of Fur Dressers and Dyers, which has many in its affiliated locals, is out for FDR on an unprecedented scale. Joint Council 13-of the United Shoe Workers held a terrific Roosevelt rally at Manhattan Center with mainly Italians present. George Baldanzi of the Textile Workers Union spoke to them in Italian and you should have heard the cheers. Local 76-B of the United Furniture Workers reports the same thing. At a general membership meeting where Morris Muster, general president, Max Perlow, secretary-treasurer, and local officers spoke, it was FDR every inch of the way. That was specially interesting because Joseph Massina, local president, was reported to be leaning the Dewey way. In the face of the membership sentiment, Massina announced that he hadn't made up his mind.

Alex Millstone, president, and all officers of Local 830, Retail Employes Union, have joined in sending a letter to members urging them to vote for Roosevelt, Truman and Wagner on Row C, the American Labor Party line. A vote there will "demonstrate the unity and the independent role of labor," says their letter. . . . These Roosevelt earrings that you see around were produced by the Teachers Union. The CIO United Auto Workers has been doing a good job in most cities on getting the vote out. But in Muskegon, Mich., we hear that the AFL United Auto Workers also is way out front. . . . The Wisconsin CIO issued a special appeal to farmers urging a vote for FDR.

Ernest Marsh, national director of organization for the United Furniture Workers, is taking a leave of absence because of illness in his family. He is in Los Angeles. . . . Radio station WHKC in Columbus, Ohio, has signed an agreement with the UAW-CIO to carry so-called controversial broadcasts without censorship and to give equal time to all points of view. This breaks the gag of silner imposed by the National Association of Broadcasters on trade unions.

William Corirossi, a member of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes Union, served Wendell Wilkie lunch at his office at 15 Broad St., for the past six years. Willkie never ordered his lunch but ate whatever the waiter brought. Corirossi says Willkie used to discuss the union with him. "Keep the union strong," he said. "That's what you want-a solid, firm organization. Then you'll always be all right."

Tuesday Is the Day!

TOMORROW is the day!

American ballots will render the decision that will set the course of history—towards further progress, higher standards of security and durable peace, or a return to the past dark days of hunger, fear and a new round of wars.

The wind-up speeches of the President and Gov. Dewey Saturday night summarized for Americans the real nature of the campaign and the issues at stake.

At Boston, the President, never forgetting for one moment the great responsibility upon his shoulders, reaffirmed with confidence and statesmanship his perspective for a quick victory and continuance of the victorious coalition as a force for security and peace.

At Madison Square Garden, Dewey, the challenger, feeling defeat, groggy and swinging wild, appeared to be craving for at least one more desperate move—something that would set a new low even for this campaign.

Dewey's emphasis approached a point of madness with the charge that the President's unconditional surrender policy was inviting stiffer resistance from the Nazis. He shadow-boxed with the so-called Morganthau plan for the same reason that his strategists picked the Jewish name of Hillman for a target.

Dewey, thereby, served notice that it is "time for a change" to an administration that could do business with Hitler. If elected, Dewey would prolong the war, for he would give the Nazis good cause to stiffen their resistance at least until people in Washington with whom they could deal, take the helm.

The people have sensed the meaning of the Dewey program despite artful demagogy. They will reelect the President. Dewey knows it and talks like he is beaten. With the passion of men who are determined to disrupt and sabotage, he threatened that Republicans in Congress will not cooperate with the President.

The President has warned of this "spite fence." He is calling upon the people to make certain the reelection of such loyal progressives as Sen. Wagner of New York and Sen. Thomas of Utah. He calls for defeat of the ringleaders of this "spite fence" Senators like Taft, Nye and James J. Davis of Pennsylvania and of House members of the type of Stephen Day and Clare Booth Luce.

The victory must be complete on Tuesday—all the way down the line!

Every Vote Must Be Cast and Counted

The Republicans knew that they could not change the sentiments of the majority of the people. They thereupon set out to confuse the issues and whittle down the majority to a minority

They tried to deprive the soldiers of the ballot. They sought to hold down the votes of migrant war workers to a minimum. And they finally put their hopes on a low registration. Their hopes were shattered on all scores. The indications point to a record vote on Tuesday.

But the Dewey forces still cling to their final hope of stealing the votes from a great many people. They count on using Republican control in 26 states for that purpose, especially in the pivotal states. The pattern of their policy is shown in New York City where Dewey's attorney general has opened a campaign to scare many thousands of naturalized first voters from the polls. Thousands are to be challenged at the polls.

In California and other states the story is the same.

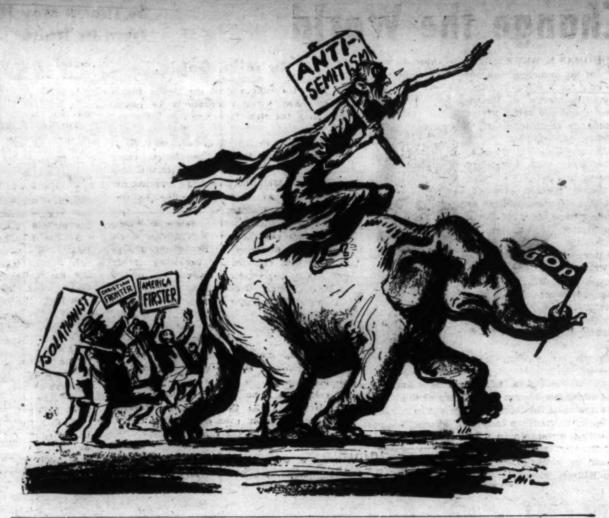

The forces of reaction must be beaten in the last trick also. Not a vote should be yielded. Voters must fight for their right to cast a ballot with the same spirit our boys are showing on the fighting front!

Our Special Task in New York

New Yorkers have an extraordinary task on Tuesday. The eyes of the nation will be upon the state's 47 electoral votes and upon the vote of the American Labor Party. Sidney Hillman, who heads the ALP, was made the nationwide target of the Dewey forces.

Furthermore, the campaign, especially Dewey's Boston speech, revealed that in this shameful technique of red-baiting and sniping against Hillman, the Dewey forces had the collaboration of the little "Liberal Party" clique headed by David Dubinsky and Dean Alfange. These irresponsibles, disregarding the danger of division in this key state, persisted in the very tactics which the GOP usurped.

The voters of New York should answer on Row C—the ALP line! Every vote for the Roosevelt-Truman-Wagner ticket on Row-C will also be a blow at the disruptors in Dubinsky's group, and an effective answer to all those who sought to exploit the name of Hillman for bigotry and labor-baiting.

A Midwest PAC Stronghold

- By Adam Lapin

YOU go due west from Chicago across the rich farm lands of Illinois until you reach the Mississippi and Quad City area, the cities of Moline, East Moline, Rock Island in Illinois and Davenport across the river in Iowa. The Quad City area is the heart of the nation's farm equipment industry, with huge International Harvester and John Deere plants. It is also a stirring example of what the CIO Political Action Committee can do in traditionally Republican territory.

Until quite recently Moline was considered a typical company town. The plants around here were hard to organize. Then after a dificult strike at International Harvester and a series of NLRB election victories, the CIO Farm Equipment Union began to entrench itself. It has been a real factor in this district. The UAW has about 6,000. There are also locals of FE, steel, office workers, UE and Amalgamated Clothing.

The union leaders here are young people in their twenties and thirties. They are enthusiastic, intelligent, hard-working. This is one place where all the bright ideas suggested in PAC pamphlets published in New York haven't remained on paper. The promise of PAC has here been translated into action.

Registration Boosted

Registration in Rock Island County was 61,000 in 1940. It is 72,000 now. With the soldier vote included, it will come to about 75,000. This is an increase of 25 per cent over 1940, one of the best records in the county, which is only partly explained by the growth of war industry. The unions did a real job. Shop stewards were deputized to register the workers, and they set up booths outside the plants.

Illinois law provides that workers get two hours off to vote. The unions have suggested to management that it would be a good idea to shut down plants two hours early on Tuesday, and this is being done in a number of plants. A couple of days ago 37 workers had volunteered to contribute their services for the entire day to drive workers to polls.

The CIO has had 20 spots on the radio, ads in every local newspaper, and has distributed literally tons of literature. Union membership lists have been broken down and canvassed. Farmers have gotten special postcards, attractively gotten up, with a cartoon and a dash of humor. Special letters have gone out to every businessman in the phone book. There is hardly an angle these people haven't thought of.

Well Organized Wards and Precincts

While the shop stewards sparkplug political action, there is also a well organized PAC on a ward and precinct basis with the participation of housewives and some businessmen.

PAC secretary in the Quad Cities is Katherine Hall, a rosycheeked young girl who has only recently been working in one of the FE plants. Her normal day now starts at 6 a.m., distributing literature at shop gates, and winds up at 12 midnight or 1 a.m. She has recorded all the vital statistics of the political situation here, in neat, black-covered note books. You will find there maps of every ward, past voting history and the names of PAC leaders.

As the biggest union in this area, FE has taken leadership in political action. And I understand it has gotten real results in some Iowa towns across the river, including Davenport and Cedar Rapids. Probably the most respected and influential labor leader here is John Watkins, the quiet-spoken and modest district president of FE. He has been in the labor movement eight years, living and breathing political action.

One of the things that has spurred upnion activity is the fact that Donald C. Teigland, an FE leader and president of the Quad Cities CIO Council, is running for the State Legislature. This has given the campaign a personal, human touch for hundreds of workers who know and like Teigland.

Another point of concentration is the defeat of Rep. Anton Johnson, who has an even worse than usual GOP record. When the Democratic organization here put a candidate in the primaries who refused to pledge that he'd go down the line for the President, the unions decided to back Carl M. Seaberg, a pro-Roosevelt political leader. Seaberg won the nomination. More than half the district is rural, and it has broken a consistently Republican record only once, in 1936.

Some of the Obstacles

One of the problems here is that some of the Democratic politicians here have traditionally made deals with the Republicans on local and sometimes state-wide candidates. This little arrangement is being broken up now, and most of the responsible Democratic leaders are cooperating with PAC. Another problem is that the AFL craft unions are under reactionary leadership.

Whether the young trade unionists I met here can carry the whole congressional district for Roosevelt I don't know. But their activity has made a big difference. They will certainly carry Rock Island County. This is conceded by the local newspapers, all Republican. They will cut into the downstate majority for Dewey, which is one of the biggest headaches facing the Roosevelt forces in the state. And they have laid a firm foundation for the future. In all the towns and cities I have visited these last three weeks, I haven't seen a more hopeful and inspiring picture of political action than here in Rock Island.

Worth Repeating

STATE RIGHTS, put forward again by Dewey, was hammered hard by the late Wendell Willkie in An American Program, as reviewed in these words by Sen. Joseph H. Ball in the current (Oct. 28) Saturday Review of Literature:

In his first chapter, Federal Power and States' Rights, Willkie pays his respects to the states' righters in this typical fashion: "It is not the worn-out issue of states' rights versus strong Federal Government. That is not an issue; that is a relic." Asserting that the United States cannot be divided into forty-eight separate economic units, he insists that vast Federal powers are essential. The real issue is their use and abuse, he says, and the solution is not a weakened central government but assurance of proper use of power by clearer and more definitive law.

Change the World

THOMAS E. DEWEY has been called by on of his numerous non-admirers, "a disaster looking for a place to happen.

And tomorrow is Election Day. Odds of five to one are being offered at the gamblers' exchange against "disaster"

Dewey. In politics, as in war, anything is possible. The long shot sometimes comes in first.

Dewey, elected President of the United States by some trick of the Devil, could bring on a train of calamities that would make Hitler's disasters look pale.

Friendly relations with Britain and Russia would be ended. America, in splendid isolation, would take up the bloody sword knocked out of the fist of the Nazis. We would become another ruthless, greedy, aggressive empire on the march, destined for tragedy and final

In five years Dewey would have lined up the world against us. In fifteen or twenty years we would be fighting a war against the world, something like Hitler is doing today and with as much success.

Racial hatreds, meanwhile, would be intensified within America. The Negroes, Jews, South Americans, all other minority groups would be kicked around by the triumphant Ku Kluxers, clerical fascists and race-baiters who form the vanguard of the Dewey Storm Troops. Laws would undoubtedly be passed resembling the Nazi race laws.

A DEWEY America could only be a Nazified America. It is in the Dewey camp that you find, for example the National Association of Manufacturers, an organization that conducts an unholy and unending war against trade unionism.

With the help of a Dewey regime in Washington, these exploiters could crush the whole trade union movement. They would plunge the land into civil war, if necessary, rather than allow the American people any of the rights won under Roosevelt.

Recently, I went through a file of fascist papers published in our country. They are more numerous and more influential than you imagine. They are supported by millionaires, by sheriffs, mayors, businessmen, college professors; quite a respectable element of the population.

For Fascism is no longer a hoodlum affair in America. It has penetrated the highest circles; it has taken over a good part of our radio, the press and the pulpit.

THAT is the great lesson of the present campaign. It is not like any other presidential election in American history. Under the form of an election, the American people are voting on the issue of fascism. This is the true significance of the elections tomorrow.

The Republican party has adopted everyone of the classic techniques used by fascism in undermining the democracies:

1. The grand lie that the country is in danger from a Communist revolution, and that only Hitler, Mussolini or Thomas Dewey can save the country.

2. The race-baiting technique for splitting the masses, "Clear it with Sidney."

3. The attack on trade unionism, (CIO-

In a horrible little Nazi sheet published by the Ku Kluxer Court Asher at Muncie, Indiana, I saw this big headline recently: "Run Jew-Red Hillman Out of America."

There is the essence of Nazism, a drive on Jews, liberals, trade unionists and Communists, a call for violence on all that is

The Republican Party, formerly the party of Abraham Lincoln, has degenrated. Its campaign was conducted along the same lines. The fascist organizations of America have captured the Republican machine.

Here is the terrible thing that has finally happened to our country. Here is the Thing we must crush tomorrow at the polls-crush it so hard that it can never rise again from its traitor's grave. -

A Bloodless 'Civil War'

These, together with true friends of democracy in all political parties, are also finding a new unity in support of the election of Roosevelt and Truman.

Here is sharp conflict between two ways of life; but, very significantly, it is not class conflict. The small but powerful forces of capitalistic reaction and their hirelings, who constitute the spearhead of the Dewey-Bricker candidacies, now find themselves confronted by almost the whole American people, including the bulk of the capitalists who, in alliance with labor and other progressive forces, can and will prove decisive.

A MONG the parallels between this election campaign and the Civil War, few are more striking than the dependence of the national welfare upon the freedom-struggles of the Negro people.

The victory of the democratic forces around Roosevelt is also largely dependent upon the role of the Negro people. Some three million potential Negro voters can easily hold the balance of power in toomrrow's elections; and the fact that their continuing struggle for freedom is now again linked up with the broader struggles of the masses of Americans-for victory, enduring peace and security-that fact is of the utmost importance to the future of our country and our world.

White Collar Workers

In the Election

Listen Here,

for your fine series of articles on the problems of the white-collar workers in the election. I think these articles have highlighted a serious problem which is disrupting the unity of the American people.

Your conclusions that the whitecollar workers will not in the main be taken in by the propaganda of the Dewey forces has been amply borne out by our activity in this election. Our membership has responded in an excellent fashion to the issues and duties of this election campaign. It is also significant that for the first time broad sections of the white collar industry have combined together around the problems affecting all of the American people in the election. In the book field, the Book Publshing Committee for the Election of Roosevelt has combined employers, executives, professionals, clerical workers both in the union and out in an excellent contribution to the campaign. The Wall Street Committee, the Magazine Committee for the Election of Roosevelt, and the Advertising Men and Women for the Election of Roosevelt, are also making a noteworthy contribution.

Newark, N. J. Editor, Daily Worker:

Something for all of us to think about: The cost of living went up 65 percent in the last world war, but it is up 25 percent in this one. It would even be lower now, if the Republicans and polltaxers hadn't sabotaged the President's program. The OPA has helped greatly, even at that.

Toward Freedom By Doxey Wilkerson

REV. ADAM CLAYTON POWELL, JR., once characterized this election campaign as a "Civil War." His phrase is apt. The real issues and the nature of the forces in conflict are now much the same as during that armed political conflict of the 1860's; and again, the role of the Negro people may prove decisive. The worst coalition of reactionaries ever seen in American politics is now united in the struggle to suppress that upsurge of democratic power which this people's war and the progressive policies of Roosevelt have brought to maturity. They know that this is their last chance to capture control of our government, by constitutional means, for a long, long time to come; and they are using every trick in Hitler's book to ward off the defeat which lies in store for them.

Just look at the line-up of forces: The Hearst-McCormick isolationists and imperialists; reactionary, anti-labor industrialists like Pew, Weir, Lamott duPont and Avery; rabid southern "white supremacy-ites" like "Cotton Ed" Smith and Eugene Talmadge; labor saboteurs of workingmen's interests like John L. cists like Gerald L. K. Smith and Charles Coughlin; the seditionists on trial in Washington for conspiracy with our fascist enemies; anti-Sovieteers from the "right" and the "left"; alien-baiters, anti-Semites and Negro-haters; the Christian Front, the KKK, and practically every other organized expression of reaction in the country. These, together with the narrow partisans of the GOP, all find "unity" in support of the Dewey-Bricker bid for national leadership. RRAYED against them are the forces of A the people: Almost the entire labor movement, far greater in numbers and more effectively organized for political action than ever before; great democratic captains of industry, like Henry J. Kaiser; small businessmen and farmers; enlightened southerners like Sen. Pepper; the bulk of our fighting men and women in uniform; civic, professional, business, religious, fraternal and other people's groups of every kind; the Communists; and a whole new series of "citizen's nonpartisan committees" which have sprung into being to give organized political expression to the otherwise inarticulate masses of democratic Americans.

"YOUR ballot is SECRET; no one WILL EVER KNOW how you vote; there will be no reprisals" (accentuation mine-E.G.F.), is the final word on a "Double the Vote for Dewey Day" leaflet, issued to women by the Republican State Committee. The GOP candidly conceded here that people may be ashamed and not want people to know they voted for Dewey-but "reprisals" is another matter. It is a strange word in American elections. Its use indicates a type of thinking that could well be reprisals is near, and possibly dear, to their minds. There is an implication of threat in this suave sentence. I would not be at all surprised if the Republican ladies have not privately discussed what the known Roosevelt supporters can expect and what they hope a winning Dewey will do to all who publicly backed FDR. The implication isif it's known you backed an unsuccessful candidate you can expect reprisals. It reveals a form of political thinking foreign to American democracy today. It is a reminder of bygone days when employers, unrestrained by government or unions, put up notices: "If so and so is elected, this factory closes down," or when they gave out yellow and blue ballets in shops and an agent of the company kept tally at the polls, as my father witnessed when a boy in Republican Maine. The labor movement stopped this, also ballot box stuffing and repeating. Terence V. Powderly tells in his life story of how the Knights of Labor in the 70's guarded the ballot boxes day and night to insure honest and fearless voting. To suggest the possibility of reprisals is to question the validity of our electoral system. It is a positive threat in negative terms. "Reprisals" belongs to the vocabulary of fascists, not in democratic America. It is a favorite Nazi weapon.

THE ladies drove up Fifth Avenue in a buggy to distribute the appeal (at least the transportation indicated the period identified with their thinking). Three questions were asked: "Women, are you tired of (1) kicking in to Communist PAC? (2) Continuous changes and unannounced cancellations of ration points? (3) A confusion of conflicting government agencies, which you are paying

Of course, the well-known district attorney technique of asking a question: "Do you still continue to beat your wife? Answer yes or no," is evident here. Each question states a lie and then asks if you are tired of it? The answers are very simple, you don't have to be a Quiz kid to reply.

Women members of the CIO (which is not a Communist organization) give voluntarily and gladly to their own Political Action Committee. On rationing, women who do the marketing know that rationing cannot be fixed or unchanging because it depends upon available supplies. It is a wise method devised by our government to prevent hoarding and to distribute limited supplies equitably. We share with our armed forces, our allies and the starving nations of Nazi conquest. Does any woman begrudge this sharing? To diminish rationing as supplies become more plentiful is logical. What would Mr. Dewey do? Stop all rationing or freeze it? At CDVO booths, and in all newspapers regularly, including Republican ones, all changes and cancellations are announced. See your Herald Tribune ladies, every Monday morning, before your maid goes shopping.

ON government agencies, women are not so dumb that they cannot understand and appreciate that we need many government agencies to run a war and plan a peace: to take care of veterans and their families; to prepare for a postwar America. Every business, school, hospital has departments. What change does Dewey proposeto abolish all departments and agencies? How will he run a war or plan a peaceor will he? It's not important how many they are, but what they do. Once I heard an anarchist say "All a government should be is a telephone exchange." Is that what Mr. Dewey means? Our government has a big job today just to feed, clothe, provide shelter, medical care, ammunitions, supplies for our far flung army. This in itself is a gigantic task, requiring tremendous organization. Can it be done without government agencies and departments? Such an argument is an insult to our intelligence as women who live in a complex modern world.

to the Germans the defeats in the war: east and especially at Stalingrad. the turning point of the whole war.

He cannot, of course, say that these terrible defeats in the east have been brought about by the superior strategy of Stalin, by the superior morale of the Red Army, and so he has fabricated a new "stab in the back" legend. The defeats, he says, especially at Stalingrad, were the result of "treason" by Gen. Walter von Seydlitz, who is the president of the League of German Officers, a captive in the Soviet Union and a member of the Free German Movement.

But this new legend of a "stab in the back" has been dealt a heavy blow by Gen. Field Marshal Friedrich von Paulus, the former commander of the Sixth German Army in Stalingrad. It will be remembered that Hitler made von Paulus a field marshal a few days before he was captured by the Red Army. von Paulus was celebrated all over Germany as a hero, It will not be so easy for Himmler to deny the power of von Paulus' words.

PAULUS' SPEECH

In a speech to the German peo-ple over the Moscow radio station Freies Deutschland the general field marshal declared on Oct. 10, 1944:

"Germans! On the beginning of August this year I saw myself compelled by the development of the whole situation to abandon the reserve imposed upon me as prisoner of war.

"I felt obliged towards my country and conscious of my special responsibility as field marshal towards my comrades, yes, and also towards our whole people, to declare: There is now only one way that leads out of the hopelessy of our days: Separation from flitler and ending of the war.

"Today I turn for the second time to my comrades and to the whole German people. Deeply disgusted, I heard lately on the radio . . . the slander against the general of artillery, Walter von Seydlitz, who belonged as commanding general of the 51st Army corps to the army under my command . As I said at the beginning of August, the Sixth Army fought obediently to the orders of Hitler and in the honest belief of serving Germany by its sacrifice. After defending what von Paulus considers "the honor" of the German officers and soldiers, he goes a step further and declares: "If I had known at that time

how we were betrayed I would have acted differently."

For a German field marshal this is a remarkable statement. The the terrible disaster into which they sense of this statement is: I would blindness. not have fought for Hitler, if I had known the whole truth about his war.

man officers and soldiers as prisoners of war in Russia have been treated humanely and that their participation in the "Free German Movement" is absolutely voluntary.

"It is an infamous lie when Mr. Hitler declares that the German soldiers in Russian captivity are treated inhumanly; that they have been forced with the system of hostages and pistol shots in the neck to make propaganda against their own country.

"The truth rather is that the German prisoners of war in the Soviet Union are treated humanely despite the innumerable beastial cruelties, ordered by Herr Himmler, against hundreds of defenseless men, women, children, people of all nations in occupied territories and in German concentration camps."

Then von Paulus gives a picture

Heinrich Himmler tries to explain Movement among the prisoners of

"Here, in Russia, German menof all stratas who love their country have united in the movement 'Free Germany' to show our people the way out of its misery to a better future.

"One of the first who was brave enough to make such a decision was Gen. von Seydlitz. The confidence of his comrades has made him the leader of the soon created League of German Officers,

"Absolutely voluntarily, only guided by the deep desire to help their own people in its need, hundreds of thousands of German prisoners of war, among them thousands of German officers and more than 30 generals, have rallied to this movement.

"Mr. Himmler knows very well that this is not a movement of people forced into doing this and without honor."

The German field marshal goes one step further. He recognizes that the German people lost its honor not by being defeated, but by barbaric cruelties they committed against other peoples.

"A Himmler who has taken away the honor from our people because of his deeds, a Himmler who wants to drive now our people with his 'Volkssturm' into suicide, has no right to judge our honor.

"The League of German Officers, with Gen. von Seydlitz on its head, is fighting in the ranks of the great movement Free Germany' for the restoration of the honor of the German people, for freedom and for peace, to bring our people again a place among nations.

Americans, and especially the Americans of German descent, have here confirmed from the words of a German field marshal the accusation against Hitler which the leaders of the United Nations have always directed against Hitler Germany.

Hundreds of thousands of German prisoners of war-privates, officers and generals—in the Soviet Union who used the opportunity to reeducate themselves would give a good deal if they could undo their past-atone for the fact that they were fools enough to vote and fight for Hitler.

German-Americans should keep that in mind, and not allow themselves to becomes tools of the reactionary Republican propaganda when they go to the polls tomorrow.

U.S. Hit Dewey

Dr. Louis Bozin, national secredeclared yesterday in a letter to sary of the October Revolution. Frank Serri, chairman of the foreign language division of the National Citizens Political Action Committee, attacked Dewey's injection of Romanian territorial questions as a vote-catcher.

"There has never been a conflict in the hearts and minds of our people between their love, allegiance and patriotism to this country of origin," Dr. Bozin wrote.

Romanian Americans are not misled by Gov. Dewey's charge that President Roosevelt sacrificed American sovereignty to Russia by allowing Russia to sign the Romanian treaty, Dr. Bozin affirmed. "Our Gen. Eisenhower signed the armistice in Italy for Russia," wrote Dr. Bozin. "Allowing the Soviet Marshal Malinovsky to sign the Romanian treaty proved the state of mutual trust between the allies. It is this mutual trust which is winning the war for the United Nations."

Brig Gen. Frank T. Hines, Vet-Administrator, reported that 271,000 veterans of this war were receiving disability pensions as of Oct. 1. Death pensions are being paid to dependents of 38,000 men who died in service or after discharge from service-connected disabilities. In addition, beneficiaries of 97,000 deceased veterans, who held national service life policies, are receiving monthly cash payments.

In the first seven months of this year, some 400,000 vets found jobs through the U.S. Employment Service and 29,875 who wanted more training signed up for courses under the Veterans Admin-to jobs held before the war.

Deweyites may rant and rave about the Administration's handling of veterans and members of the armed forces but the record shows that no administration has been as liberal as Roosevelt's in its benefits for fighters and ex-servicemen. Some of the measures enacted into law call for the eventual expenditures of large sums of money. Appropriations have been made for the future care of veterans of the present war and of veterans of past wars and their their dependents. The pensions dependency benefits have also been materially increased.

A few of the more important laws signed by the President for the benefit of servicemen, veterans and their dependents are:

P. L. 225-Mustering out pay in amounts ranging from $100 to $300, depending on length of service whether at home or overseas.

P. L. 346-Readjustment allowances for veterans returning to civil life for education, loan for farms and business enterprises, hospitalization and unemployment.

P. L. 174-Provides monthly allowances for dependents and families of servicemen.

P. L. 245-Increases pensions of Indian war veterans and their widows.

P. L. 242-Increases pensions of Spanish-American war and Philippine war veterans and their can' recount what we have

There is grief in the hearts of all of us. For 40 months the enemy rent the living body of Russia. For 40 months the butchers maltreated our dear ones. We had to get there. And now we are there. We were not stopped by their fortifications.

Hitler counted in vain on the staunchness of his Fritzes. You cannot rear bandits and expect them to be ascetics. They may be experienced and cunning bandits, but they don't breed Joans of Arc and Zoya Kosmodemyanskayas.

A LOOTER BAWLS

The other day Gauleiter Erich Koch bawled at a meeting of the Hitlerites, "We will not surrender a foot of Prussian land. We will cling to it; we will take root

Who said that? We know this Erich Koch, ex-Reichskommissan of the Ukraine. We know him well. His profession is looting and he will not succeed in palming himself off as a knight. Both he and his Fritzes ravaged the Ukraine. Let them not talk now about the German land.

A debt is honored by its payment. The Fritzes did not cling to the land of Eydtkuhnen nor the and of Stalluponen nor to the land of Goldap. And if they have taken root in the ground it is as dead men, and it wasn't the Prussian gauleiter but Russian lead that took care of that.

Let Erich Koch not cling to Koenigsberg. Let him not count on luck. If he succeeded in escaping from Rovno in time, that doesn't mean that he is clusive. We will catch Koch, too.

THEY GOT THEIR BLITZES

The Germans used to adore blitzes in every form. Bloated burghers, commercial councillors with bellies swollen with beer and hearts swollen with pride, they wanted to hasten the clock of history.

These toads with doctors' degrees, these thieves with their race theories, these house-breaking Nietzscheans were evidently afraid of arriving late at the "feast of heaven dwellers." They wanted blitzes. Now they've got them wholesale without ration coupons — enough blitzes to drive them crazy.

Every day the Germans lose either a town or a fortress or a fortified line or a country or an ally. In the West, Aachen, coronation city of German emperors, has fallen.

In the East our troops have invaded the breeding-ground of Prussian militarism-the den of cattle-breeders and horse-knackers, the land from which came the old field marshals and the young sturmfuehrers. The jackals have either been caught and confined in cages or are hiding.

THE TIGER ROARS ALONE

The tiger is now alone. He's wounded but he still roars and has ceased to frighten even Swedish Social Democrats, and as to his fangs-they, too, aren't what they used to be.

Accursed breed! Everybody hates them. I am referring not only to the honest and irreconcilable nations which for so many years have been fighting a stern fight. The Germans are hated by their yesterday's allies. There has been nothing like it in history.

Why, the Germans are being fought by armies which only recently were fighting on their sideby Romanians, Italians, Bulgarians and Finns. Who is with Germany? Only a handful of Hungarians and they are on a leash until the first turn of a corner.

We are on German soil. Here, until so recently, German landowners harnessed Russian prisoners in place of oxen. Here, until so recently, the spouses of geheimrats slapped the faces of Russian Here, until only so recently, German dignitaries discussed how best to utilize the hair of the Martyrs of Maidanek, Tremblyanka and Sobibur, whether for rope or pillows or saddles or sofas.

Here, until only so recently, common or garden German men and women with hands sweating with impatience tore open parcels of honest and modest goods filched

Now justice has come to this land. We are in the land of Erich Koch, Reichskommissar of the Ukraine. And when we have said that, we have said everything. This is something more than the end of a military campaign or the issue of a gigantic battle—it is the triumph of simple justice. Many a time we have said, "The court is coming." The court has come.

WOE TO CHILD SLAYERS

"I say again, we come not for vengeance, but for justice. We will not hurt German children: we are not child slayers. But wee to them who slew children; wee to the instigators, executioners and their abettors. They will not escape retribution. Our army will not delegate the cause of conscience to anybody.

We are on German soil, and those words express all our hope. It is not enough to defeat Germany. She must be crushed. They are already dreaming of a

THEIR LAST WILL

But they are going to correct these mistakes. If not now, then 10 or 20 years hence they will exterminate everyone. A German officer, von Wolke, who was recently killed in Hungary, wrote before his death, "We committed a blunder. These Russians have proved to be so numerous that they have the power not only to defend themselves but, as we have learned to our cost to attack as well. Our mistake was that we killed all too few of them when we were in Russia. And now they are marching on our country. . . . It is my will that my son Wilhelm shall be'less humane."

We know what they feel. And we know what we feel. We are on German soil. That means that we will wean them of their German "trade," that Wilhelm von Wolke will cut ears of wheat and not children's throats, that he will turn dung and not cities. It means that Germany will think with horror of her campaign against the Soviet Union and the world.

We are coming to them, and in our hearts is the woe of these 40 months—the mutilated bodies of the infants of the Babi Yar ravine, the "desert zone," the famine victims of the siege of Leningrad. our near ones and friends, the first gallows in Volokolamsk, and the still warm bodies of the victims slaughtered as a last act of vengeance in the Kloog camps, our slain brethren, the homes of our fathers, the guerilla region in Byelorussia where the Germans filled the wells with children.

And Pushkin's grave, the "ghettos" with millions of defenseless men and women massacred, and blown-up Novgorod, our insulted old folk and youth stained with blood. All this we harbor in our

And we have only to look at the fields, fields over which the Germans strode. Since June 22, 1941-since that Sunday when the loudspeakers spoke and mothers and wives wept, down to this day . . . for 40 months, for 1,200 days and as many hights . . . retreating, advancing, in Kalmykia, on the Volga, past Pavlov's House, swimming the Dnepr on stuffed tent-capes, in the Carpathians, in Petsamo-wherever we were, we at all times waited for this day.

And now it has come. We are on German soil.

And now, farther and deeper! We are still only on the threshold, in the vestibule.

Next comes Koenigsberg. That is where Erich Koch is. That is where the scum is. We must get there. And we must go on to Ber-

The road is still a hard one. But we will get there. A second pair of wings has sprouted from the shoulders of each of us. For we are in Germany. The frontier is behind us.-(From the Soviet Information Bulletin.)

LONDON, Nov. 5 (ALN). - The British Labor Party, in a message to the Italian resistance movement, this week declared that the partisans "have earned the trust, confidence and admiration" of the democratic peoples of the world in their "glorious effort" to redeem their country.

Praising the "heroism" of the workers and peasants of the resistance movement who "greatly contributed to the Allied advance," the Labor Party expressed its eagerness for the day when the Italian and British workers "together with the other democratic and Socialist parties, can help to build up a powerful organization for international security and economic cooperation and can thus make possible a full Do you hear? Republican Plot other day and said his (Dewey's) election would be providential for the Germans,' John Gunther, the noted war correspondent, said over NBO Wednesday night. To which Quentin Reynolds, equally noted as a war correspondent, replied: "That's because the Deweyites have borrowed the old fascist tactic of divide and conquer."

The exchange of judgments condemning the Republican presidential candidate occurred on a Round Table Discussion on the Blue Network, in which Mark Van Doren, critic and writer, and Orson Welles, actor, also participated. It turned out to be one of the most smashing indictments of Dewey yet heard over the

The present Republican tactics strongly reminded the newspaper men of the "Reichstag Fire" frame-up which led to Hitler's rise to power. Some of their discussion runs as follows:

GUNTHER

Well, I don't know very much about American election. I've been working abroad most of my professional life and this is actually the first American presidential election I've seen close up. But I do remember quite a lot about elections abroad . . . several of them in Germany. And the one I remember best was the one that swept Hitler into power on the heels of the Reichstag Fire frame-up. You remember that, don't you, Quent?

REYNOLDS

I sure do. We were both there for the trial.

GUNTHER

So, Quent, the thing that strikes me hardest in this campaign is the debased kind of weapon the Republican Party is stooping to use. For it seems to me that Dewey and his clique are making use of every device that shocked and horrified the civilized world during Hitler's rise to power. First, the wanton use of the lie as a political instrument. This was one of Hitler's chief weapons, you remember, and the theory on how it could be used was set forth plainly in Mein Kampf. Second, the incessant attempt to drag in such completely extraneous issues as the Communist bogey. And finally, the deliberate attempt to muddle people and to stir up the ugliest possible passions on a racist level.

WELLES

Yes, John, the whole Dewey campaign is based on Hitler's favorite trick of the big lie. Tell it often enough and make it big, Hitler says, and the people will believe it. Well, we've heard a lot of big lies from the Deweyite Republicans. Here's one I don't think anybody's even bothered to deny up to now. It's the lie about Hillman and Browder.

VAN DOREN I've heard of them.

I suppose there are some people who really believe that is a partnership. GUNTHER

Some people will believe anything. WELLES

The fact is, John, that Sidney Hillman, the head of the CIO Political Action Committee, has never met Earl Browder.

REYNOLDS That's right, Orson.

WELLES

Hillman hasn't any connection with communism or the Communist Party. Putting their names together doesn't make them friends or partners or fellow conspirators. The two men don't even know each other. But speaking of Hillman's partners-he has a real one, and this partner the Deweyites have never mentioned-but the history books will. Here it is: a real partnership—Hillman and Knudsen.

VAN DOREN I've heard of them, too. WELLES

That's Sidney Hillman and Lieut. Gen. Bill Knudsen, who together did such great work on our American production job. That's not a fake, that's a fact. Of course, what Gov. Bricker keeps reminding us of is a fact, too. Sidney Hillman, like a lot of other great Americans, wasn't born in this country-the Deweyites haven't even been above reproaching Hillman for being foreign-born.

REYNOLDS Foreign-born-so is Bill Knudsen. GUNTHER

Let me say again how shocking it is to find such Nazi tricks used in our country. I remember those tricks so well. When they speak those words "foreign-born," they want you to read the words Jewish, Catholic or any minority they happen to dislike. And it's the same thing when they use the words "foreign influence" or "Communist." Hasn't Hitler taught us a costly enough lesson now? You can't just be polite about it. Hitler isnt polite. We're fighting a war against the people who invented that kind of a thing politically, who rose to power telling these same lies.

Then Reynolds referred to the current issue of the Catholic weekly, The Commonweal. It denied that Sidney Hillman was a Communist. In part Reynolds quoted: "Sidney Hillman is today as good an example as you could find in America of the labor leader who preaches and practices the theory of capital-labor cooperation for mutual interest. Actually function of labor in industry sounds far more like a papal encyclical than a Marxist tract." I hate to keep repeating myhelf, gentlemen, but that's from the Catholic Commonweal.

The discussion then proceeded:

WELLES

I'd like to say this about the red scare, the Communist threat, the Bolshevik menace, Quent. I think it's a phony because I think, and I know that Mr. Roosevelt thinks, that what we've got here in America now is better than communism. I think the people know it and I don't think they'll accept communism as a substitute. I think that communism only succeeds where it's an improvement, and I know it wouldn't be an improvement here.

No, I don't think we have anything to fear from the Communists. There aren't many of them.

But I think we have a lot to fear from the men who use communism as a word to smear liberalism. I think we have a lot to fear from the men who try to use the false issue of communism to halt American democratic progress. They're in bad company, those men who use the red scare to get votes. As John Gunther pointed out, the Nazis rose to power by the same lies. Adolf Hitler first seized power on the excuse that he was protecting his country from the reds.

In history there is not one instance where democracy has fallen to communism, but time after time, in country after country, in one democracy after another, the men who proclaim themselves as enemies of communism are revealed as the enemies of democracy and the wreckers of the democratic form of government.

VAN DOREN

I guess we're all agreed here that communism is not a real issue in this election, and aren't we also agreed that Thomas Dewey is not conducting a responsible political campaign?

Then, as Van Doren put it, "they went on to discuss how the Dewey campaign has tried desperately to avoid the main issue in the world today-the war." On this they said in part:

REYNOLDS

That's one issues the Deweyites have not discussed. At first, Mark, they tried desperately to prove that the war was over. The war was not an election issue. But then the names of Arnhem and Aachen crept into the headlines-and stayed there. The South China coast was

GUNTHER

Yes, Quent-which means that even with our great naval victory in the Philippines, we will still have to invade China, to secure beachheads on the China coast. And that may prove just as tough a job as Anzio and Salerno and Normandy.

REYNOLDS

Exactly, John. And as soon as the Deweyites saw that this war was far from over (and I'm sure Mr. Churchill's confirmation of this yesterday can be taken as authoritative)—then the Dewey boys became painfully silent on the subject. The gang that writes Dewey's speeches were smart not to remind the American people that this "change" they were clamoring for, would mean the needless sacrifice of thousands of Ameri-

VAN DOREN

I think that point is important enough to warrant some elaboration, Quent.

REYNOLDS

Well, you change your war leadership now-you change from a man who has been running the best-managed war in our history to a man who admits he knows nothing about - military affairsand you're bound to have serious delays and mistakes at the start.

Then they added:

WELLES

You know, Quent Reynolds has done a lot of traveling in this campaign, and I think he will bear this out-I know in all the communities I've been, I've found otherwise thoughtful mothers seriously troubled by Dewey's shameless lie that the President is plotting to keep our fighting men in uniform past their need of service. Quent, you've been to all our fighting fronts. I think you're the man to answer that one.

REYNOLDS

I can't say anything more on this subject than the President has already said -and we've already heard from the Commander-in-Chief. I think that a man with four sons in the war is very anxious to have them home as soon as possible. WELLES

There's a very good reason why the Germans want Roosevelt defeated. They want a soft peace and they also want the war to last longer so they can get it.

REYNOLDS If Dewey is elected President our fighting men are going to stay in uniform longer because they're going to have to fight longer. It's just as simple as that.

GUNTHER

It's very simple, Quent—the alternatives in this election boil down to this. With Dewey: a long war and a short peace; with Roosevelt: a short war and a long peace.

Notre Dame "Supremacy Theory" Hits the Dust

Nat Low -

So there's the answer you've been seeking, friends, and more of the same will be forthcoming this week at the Yankee Stadium!

We're talking about Notre Dame and its alleged gridiron invincibility which came to such an abrupt end in Baltimore Saturday before a vengeful and mighty Navy team that poured broadside upon broadside into the leaking hull of the South Bend ship, after eight consecutive years of humiliating defeats.

Even the most biased Notre Dame fan-and there are hosts of them must admit the 32--13 defeat was complete, conclusive and convincing. But just in case a few doubting Thomases still remain, watch what that Army outfit will do come Saturday. They may well make the Navy effort seem like an amateur effort.

As you may have noticed from these columns, we are not listed in the ranks of Notre Dame's admirers. Together with a lot of other people we felt a sense of gratification over Notre Dame's defeat and for reasons we would like to explain here.

Before the advent of flat-nosed, husky-voiced Knute Rockne, to whom the modern game owes so much, Notre Dame was just a tiny, obscure religious school having no more than 200 students any one year. On the wings of Rockne's considerable gridiron genius the school rode to national fame—and wealth.

The amazing successes of Notre Dame football teams, before and after Rockne's untimely death in a plane crash in 1931, made it a titan among universities and a household name all over the country.

That a football team could gain such prominence for its school is simply a reflection of one of those quaint customs peculiar only to the United States. But so it is, for better or worse, and it was with this fame that came a tendency which has irked and angered many people.

We are referring here to the arrogance and cockiness that has become an almost integral part of Notre Dame athletes, students and followers. Whether in politics or athletics, Americans do not like supremacy theories and, unfortunately, this is precisely what Notre Dame publicists have built up over the years because they know that the yearly enrollment of students at the school depends upon the success of its teams.

Athletes who have played against Notre Dame teams, whether football of basketball, will attest to the lack of respect most of the South Benders exhibit for their opponents.

Basketball fans who attend games at Madison Square Garden know from their own experience that Notre Dame cage teams arrogantly dely all collegiate traditions by refusing to stand at attention while the NYU school song is being played. No other team breaches these ethics and it is something which is so glaring as to become repulsive to sportsmen.

In football, Notre Dame elevens have never quite behaved in Lord Fauntelroy fashion, and have been known to take advantage of their vast fame by engaging in certain practices not usually associated with good sportsmen and getting away with it by intimidating, by indirection of course, the officials assigned to work the games.

From our own observation covering Notre Dame games for only a short while, and from discussions with innumerable athletes, officials and writers, we are convinced it is best all around that Notre Dame's supremacy theory receives some severe jolts.

Humility and modesty are essential to athletes as well as others and if drubbings on the field of athletic endeavor tend to hasten these virtues into being, we are all for them.

All of which reminds us that last week we said, despite the scoffers: "Navy and Army both to beat Notre Dame!"

Which makes us quite half-an-expert, eh?

Are you listening, Notre Dame?

The Mind of the Deweyite Is a Curious Thing—Corwin

- By Norman Corwin

The capacity of the mind of the practicing Deweyite is a curious thing. Ten minutes of slow philosophy over a glass of tea will inevitably lead one to the conclusion that even that large class of dumb brutes which happen to include man's best friend, the dog, knows more about the war than the Republican National Committee.

It works out this way: All creatures living in the earth and air have felt the shock of war; the overtaken cow lies with burst udder on the hummock; no worm is safe; the bomb digs deeper than the mole; depth bombs blow up whole nations of schooling fish; in the heavens the eagle is outflown, or mangled on the tail assembly.

As I say, all fish and fowl have heard about it, but the Tory candidate for office and his chum, the pompous editor, have not; with malice aforethought Bertie signals the press room, and transforms anonymous woodpulp into a published lie. The dancers of Ball can give eye-witness information and the children of Iceland report on the progress of war, but from the unimpressed New York Republican You can cry to an old-guard Rewho has not heard the tidings, ex- publican: "Look to the East! Soviet War Heroes Celebrate Birthdays on Nov. 7 Anniversary

By JOHN GIBBONS

MOSCOW, Nov. 5. - On Tuesday when the Soviet State celebrates its 27th anniversary not a few of her fighting sons will be celebrating their 27th birth-

Among the 27-year-olds, Major Dmitry Glinka, twice cited a Hero of the Soviet Union. He is a fighter pilot with 30 red stars gleaming on the fuselage of his Yak, one for each enemy plane he has Dmitry Glinka hails from Krivoi Rog where in his teens he worked alongside his father and brothers in the iron ore mines. Working in the darkness of the iron nines, young Dmtiry used to dream of soaring skywards in the bracing air over the boundless steppes.

When the iron-ore mines trade union opened its flying club, young Glinka became a charter member. When the time came for him to put in his two years of service in the Red Army he already had a pilot's certificate. When Hitler launched his attack, Glinka took to the air with the rank Glinka fought in the skies over the Ukraine, Crimea, Caucasus, Kuban and in dog-fights over the rooftops of his native Krivoi Rog. The Junkers, Heinkels, Messerschmitts and Fock Wulfs all fell under the unerring fire from his cannon and machine guns.

COLONEL OF TANK BRIGADE

When he received his first Hero of the Soviet Union award, he had 146 combat flights to his credit and had bagged his 15th enemy plane. In recognition of his doubling that number, the gov ernment duplicated his award.

Three times wounded in three years, Glinka is still flying as strong as ever and looking forward with delight to Tuesday's double birthday, his own and that of his country.

Hero of the Soviet Union Ivan Proshin, colonel of a tank brigade, is another fighting man who will celebrate his 27th birthday on Tuesday. He entered the Kharkov Tank School at the age of 18 and has remained with the tanks ever since. It was at the Mannerheim Line in 1941 where he

He was one of the first Red Army officers to force the Dnepr River in the crossing that dismayed the enemy with its speed, efficiency and daring with which it was effected.

When the Germans tried to liquidate the bridgehead and throw his battalion back to the river. Leyusenko turned tide of battle and took 600 prisoners. That deed won for him the Hero of the Soviet award, distinction and the promotion to his

The heroes who brought into being the Soviet Union in 1917 have begotten heroes for whom neither rivers, plains, mountains, mud, snow nor Prussian walls are insurmountable obstacles.
